

I believe that all information transmittal methods should be completely protected from any interception by any, other than the target recipient, without express consent of the sender, recipient, or a court ordered warrant.